Curbside Library Services and Reopening Approach

As the Marin County Free Library began to provide curbside holds pickup service at some of our branches in early June, the MARINet office told us that systemwide, there were still more than 100,000 library items checked out. Knowing that once electronic holds were turned on, it would be important for materials to be available, Bonny and Sara decided to run a pop-up returns center at the South Novato Library for two weeks, beginning on June 13. Since South Novato had been operating as a childcare center, the branch wasn’t ready to start curbside holds pickup, but it was the perfect location for returns. During our two week pop-up, more than 10,000 items were returned.

By early July, all 10 of our library branches had set their curbside plans in motion. Our first goal was to deliver all the holds that had been sitting on branch holds shelves since March. Most libraries achieved this within the first week of service. Then MARINet turned on electronic holds, enabling patrons to place new holds from the catalog and curbside service really heated up. Most branches offered services 3-4 days a week although the Marin City branch offered five days of service from the beginning. Some branches required an advance appointment in order to control traffic at the holds-pickup table, while others just required a call from the parking lot. This service continues to be extremely popular, with some libraries’ holds activity as high as it was pre-COVID. More than 42,000 holds were placed systemwide in June, but to our surprise, Overdrive holds for ebooks still remained very high too at about 39,000.

MCFL’s Curbside Service Hours are listed at the end of this report, just below the Personnel Section.

Library Activities and Our Equity Focus

- This summer the Children’s Services Team focused on targeted outreach and distributed over 5,000 books to 30 individual sites, including food pantries, free lunch sites, Marin Foster Care Association, and Homeward Bound.

- Our online summer reading program attracted 295 readers who have logged over 100,000 minutes, and we distributed many copies of our reading log to families who picked up books during their curbside visits.

- Staff have been reaching out to families who received wi-fi hotspots in the Spring. Several families were able to get new hotspots to replace defective ones, and staff have mailed free books to families who have requested them.
June and July 2020

Teen Services
During the Shelter in Place

- Teen Services needed to quickly move to a way to provide equitable summer service not based on in-branch programming. We joined with Children and Adult Services to provide an online reading game, Beanstack, for patrons to log reading minutes and earn badges.
- We sent out a survey through Savannah to teens aged 13-18 to find their interest in take home craft kits and virtual programming. The responses guided our offerings.
- We created a Teen Leaders Crew from volunteers to help us develop our offerings. They provided craft kits to teens in MCI, SNO, and WM. Extra kits were offered to Juvenile Hall. Virtual programs included Teen Trivia Night, Teen Jeopardy Night, Book Clubs, Poetry Night, Cooking Demonstration, Mindfulness
- Teen book giveaways provided at lunch pickup sites, curbside pickup, Juvenile Hall and schools

June and July 2020

Adult Services
During the Shelter in Place

- Surprisingly, adults over 50 are our biggest readers in our Tails to Trails Summer Challenge. We’re doing things a little differently this year and opened up our Summer Reading Challenge to all ages. Almost 200 adults are a part of our community of readers and have kept track of over 43,000 minutes of reading on marinlibrary.beanstack.org!
- Adult Services Librarians have been staffing our Talk with a Librarian Line M-F from 9am-6pm. They’re answering questions that run the gamut from helping patrons to navigate Curbside Service around the County, to placing holds and recommending books that can be picked up through that service, to spending lengthy calls helping people download eBooks to their devices.
- Blog posts continue to be a great way for librarians to stay in touch with our patrons at home. The Pride2020 blog reflected on the fact that Pride itself started as an uprising, and on the strides in LGBTQ rights made as a result of civil unrest and through the leadership of Black queer and trans people and provided resources to explore that.
- Several virtual programs for adults were planned in June & July, including a Virtual Tour of Levi Strauss: A History of American Style at the Contemporary Jewish Museum Exhibit, All Things Apple! Online Classes with Beryn Hammil, Conversation Clubs in English and Spanish are being hosted out of Novato Library on Zoom, and Age Friendly Fairfax hosted a breakfast on Zoom for a friendly and enjoyable chat.
To support Marin families’ interest, we expanded access to the Conscious Kids: Talking About Race Book Kits, including purchasing more copies of the books and eBooks, and including the discussion guide on our website. The Conscious Kids Book Kits were also highlighted in the July Library Newsletter, with an accompanying updated blog post providing context for how these books are vitally important for parents and kids.

Demand for eBooks remained high, even when libraries reopened for curbside service. Checkouts have been averaging over 2000 a day, and over 50,000 a month for May and June. In particular, requests for titles about racial equity were strong. The top 5 titles on the request list for OverDrive in late July, with between 245 and 295 requests each, were for the eBook and eAudiobook of How to Be an Antiracist by Ibram X. Kendi, the eBook and eAudiobook of White Fragility by Robin DiAngelo, and the eBook of The Vanishing Half, a novel by Brit Bennett. To give context on eBook use, the total checkouts for May and June of 2019 from Overdrive were 30,524 and 32,118, while the totals for May and June of 2020 were 55,721 and 54,206.

Marin City Library distributed new children’s books (preschool through high school) at the Bayside MLK/Willow Creek Academy Bags of Love grocery distribution on June 24-25 and July 1-2. Books were sorted and bagged by grade level, and 2-3 books were in each bag. Groceries and books that were not picked up on Wednesdays were distributed for home delivery the next Thursday. All families were on the schools’ free or reduced lunch list.

Marin City Library staff at Bayside MLK began calling students’ homes who are in the school’s Smarty Ants summer challenge. We are sending worksheets home via email (soon via snail mail, too) and coordinating Zoom and phone calls to connect with kids and caregivers.

We provided Chromebook to Hannah Project for their Freedom School program.

We renewed our agreement with Bayside MLK through June 2023 to have oversight of and embedded staff in the school library.

Reading on the Ranches is celebrating 21 years of delivering summer reading to children living remotely in West Marin.
Educational Equity

to COVID, our coordinator and teen aides are taking weekly requests and providing pre-bagged, quarantined books at a safe distance. We are thrilled to continue providing workforce development for four teens, many of whom participated in the program as children.

- With generous funding from The West Marin Fund to support early education equity and kindergarten readiness, the Learning Bus team is designing and distributing Little Learners/Pequeños Aprendices Kits for children 0-5 in West Marin. To date, we’ve connected with 74 children.
- In partnership with NUSD’s Summer Language Program (SLP), the Makerspace & XRStars have begun offering bilingual project tutorials that accompany free kits full of materials SLP program participants can use to build as they follow along. Two XRStars have taken the lead with bilingual content creation and are the hosts of our Bilingual Maker series on YouTube.

Specialized COVID Responses
Communications and Website Enhancements

MCFL’s Curbside Service Hours are listed at the end of this report, just below the Personnel Section.

- During June and July, Library Marketing sent out 8 (previously our newsletters were sent out once a month) Library email messages via our Savannah platform to update our community about changes in library services like curbside pickup in response to the COVID-19 restrictions, our programs for summer activities for all ages, and our deep commitment to combatting structural and institutional racism.
- The Library Marketing Team worked to help design a Drake Boulevard History Resources web page to showcase the resources created by the California Room staff to support community interest and prepare for the online learning session on the different perspectives about the history of the Boulevard.
- Working in conjunction with Library Administration and the Racial Equity Alliance Team, Library Marketing helped develop a Racial Equity Information and Resources Engagement Plan to guide our communication with the public to ensure our fulfillment of our mission, particularly its equity, welcoming and inclusion elements.
- Updates to the website were ongoing, and the homepage was re-designed to highlight our curbside service, with a guide to how things work in the new environment. We tracked and communicated about the roll-out of more branches being able to accept curbside returns, as well as to provide curbside pickups. During June and July, more of our collection became available for holds, and more branches began to fulfill requests for holds. We also brought Link Plus and our delivery service back online to support the movement of materials throughout the county.

- Planning for a new website also got under way – with the goal of migrating to a secure platform that integrates information from our online catalog.
