

This is my library.

The Corte Madera Library is a public library and part of the Marin County Free Library system. I can go to the library to borrow books and movies, go to story time, and more.

This is the entrance to my library.

I can get to the front door by walking the path or using the ramp. There is an automatic door button if I need help getting inside.

This is the library lobby.

When I walk into the library there is a big information desk and library staff who can help me get a library card and answer my questions.

These are the library restrooms.

There are bathrooms to the right of the front door if I need to use them during my visit. There is also a water fountain if I am thirsty.

My library has a special children's room where I can find books just for me.

To go to the children's room, I turn left after I come through the front doors. There is a white board that says what programs are happening at the library.

This is the children's room.

The children's room has all kinds of books, movies, and toys for me to explore. The books are neatly organized on shelves. Some of the furniture gets moved around for programs like storytime or LEGO club. Sometimes the room can be noisy, but most of the time it is quiet.

This is the children's information desk.

This is where the librarian sits. I can ask the librarian for help finding books or information. The librarian likes helping me and answering my questions. There are coloring pages and crayons at the desk if I want to color.

There are different chairs to sit in and read.

When I find a book I like, I can sit in a chair and read it by myself or with my grown up.

There are different tables to sit at and use.

I can read, write, or do coloring at the tables in the children's room. There are wobble cushions I can use.

I can leave books on the cart when I am done reading.

I can help keep the library organized by leaving books I am finished with on the cart or on a table. The shelvers put books back on the shelves.

My library has toys I can play with.

I can play with these toys and puzzles when I visit the library.
When I am done, I will put the toys back neatly.

My library has computers in the children's room.

I can use the self checkout machine to borrow books to take home. I can use the computers to find books in the library. I can use the AWE computer to play learning games.

This is where I can return books
when I am done with them.

I can return my borrowed books into the book return slot inside or outside by the front door.

I had fun at the library.

I will come back soon to return books I borrowed and to find new ones.
